

Tomás Domínguez Autrán has been Director of Operations at REE since December 2015. He has been Director of Operation of the Canary Islands System from December 2012 to 2015 and Head of the Control Center Department of Red Eléctrica de España from 2004 to 2012 where he was directly responsible for the real-time operation of the peninsular electricity system during the period in which wind generation was massively deployed. It has developed and launched in 2006 the Renewable Energy Control Center (CECRE).

He holds a degree in Industrial Engineering from the University of Navarra in 1988 and a PDD from IESE Business School in 2010.