

Fabio Assandri – Head of Strategic Projects Development and Licensing

Responsible for the development of new strategic business of the company through partnership, JV and M&A as well as for the protection, development and valorization of company IP, including licensing of proprietary technologies. During last 2 years managing the new project Hoop® for advanced plastic recycling with development of Demo plant granted from EU Innovation Fund, the acquisition of 65% of Novamont (company leader in the field of bioplastic) with following integration in Versalis and the acquisition of 100% of Tecnofilm (company active in the field of elastomer compounding).

He joined Eni in 1995 covering different roles with increasing responsibility in R&D projects, engineering design and licensing of proprietary technologies, acquiring a very deep experience in development of new industrial projects and reaching in 2012 full responsibility for Versalis Process Technology and Basic Engineering.

Starting from 2018 he spent 2 years as General Manager of Matrica (JV between Versalis and Novamont), company active in the field of chemicals from renewable, managing all the operating and commercial activities of the company.

From 2020 to 2022 was appointed as Head of Versalis R&D, responsible for company research activities in the fields of Plastics, Elastomers and Intermediates with a focus on developing innovative technologies in the field of recycling, managing an innovation network between Versalis Research Centers and co-development with other companies and Research Institutes.

He received a Master in Chemical Engineering from 'Politecnico di Milano' in 1992 and a MBA from 'MIP/SDA Bocconi' in 2008.