

Barbara Prainsack is a Professor at the Department of Political Science at the University of Vienna, where she directs the Centre for the Study of Contemporary Solidarity (CeSCoS) and the Vienna Center for Advanced Studies (ViCAS). Her forthcoming monograph, States of Solidarity: How to Build a Society, is forthcoming with Oxford University Press. In addition to her academic work, she is active in policy advising, serving as Chair of the European Group on Ethics in Science and New Technologies, which advises the European Commission.